APPENDIX A – REFERENCE MAPS

Counties and census divisions

To provide a means of presenting statistical data for permanent areas within a province, counties and census divisions are used in compiling many of the results of the census. Since electoral districts are subject to change after each census, areas with fixed boundaries are used as a basis for compilation of the census to permit comparisons of data with other census years for areas smaller than a province.

In the eastern provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, counties are used for this purpose. The four western provinces and Newfoundland, where there are no fixed political divisions corresponding to counties, have been divided for statistical purposes into census divisions. These census divisions have been so laid out that as population increases, they may be subdivided without destroying the means of comparing the variations in population, housing, agriculture, etc., disclosed by succeeding censuses.

There have been no changes in the county or census division boundaries of the majority of provinces since the census divisions of the western provinces were first established at the time of the 1921 Census. In the Province of Quebec, however, a number of "municipal" counties have been created which subdivide some of the original or "census" counties. These new counties are indicated as subheadings of the original counties on the provincial map shown for Quebec.

In the Province of Ontario, in addition to the 43 census counties in the southern parts of the Province, there are 11 territorial districts in northern Ontario which for census purposes are shown as counties. These districts are indicated in the legend of the index map for Ontario shown on a later page. Whereas in the Province of Quebec certain counties have been subdivided for municipal purposes, the reverse has occurred in Ontario where a number of counties have been united for this reason (e.g., the county of Durham and Northumberland). These differences from "census" counties are also indicated in the legend of the map for Ontario.

Census Metropolitan Areas

A number of tables in Volume III show data for census metropolitan areas and their component parts. As a guide to the locations of the satellite communities in relation to the central city, a set of reference maps for these census metropolitan areas follows the provincial series shown in the following pages of this Appendix.

It should be noted that these maps are not drawn to a uniform scale, and the precise boundaries in cases where only parts of municipalities are included in the metropolitan areas cannot always be discerned. Used in conjunction with detailed topographical maps, however, the exact parts included can usually be determined.

Although the cities of Regina and Saskatoon in the Province of Saskatchewan, are sufficiently large to be classed with other metropolitan area cities, these centres do not have substantial built-up urbanized fringe areas as in the case of the cities included as census metropolitan areas.

APPENDICE A – CARTES DE RÉFÉRENCE

Comtés et divisions de recensement

Pour présenter des données statistiques à l'égard des régions permanentes d'une province, on se sert des comtés et des divisions de recensement dans la préparation d'un grand nombre de résultats du recensement. Comme les circonscriptions électorales sont sujettes à être modifiées après chaque recensement, on prend comme base des régions à limites constantes, afin de permettre des comparaisons des données avec les autres recensements, dans le cas des régions moins étendues qu'une province.

Dans les provinces de l'Est, l'Île du Prince-Édouard, la Nouvelle-Écosse, le Nouveau-Brunswick, le Québec et l'Ontario, les comtés sont utilisés à cette fin. Les quatre provinces de l'Ouest et Terre-Neuve, ne possédant pas de divisions politiques déterminées qui correspondent aux comtés, ont été divisées aux fins de statistique en divisions de recensement. Ces divisions de recensement ont été établies de façon telle qu'à mesure que la population augmentera, elles pourront être subdivisées sans que soient détruits les moyens de comparaison des variations de population, logement, agriculture, etc., révélées par les recensements subséquents.

Il n'y a eu aucun changement aux limites des comtés ou divisions de recensement de la majorité des provinces depuis que les divisions de recensement des provinces de l'Ouest ont été établies à l'époque du recensement de 1921. Dans la province de Québec, toutefois, on a créé un certain nombre de comtés "municipaux" qui subdivisent quelques-uns des comtés initiaux ou de "recensement". Ces nouveaux comtés sont indiqués comme sous-titres des comtés antérieurs sur la carte provinciale du Québec.

La province d'Ontario compte, en plus des 43 comtés de recensement du sud de la province, 11 districts territoriaux du nord qui, aux fins du recensement, sont désignés comme comtés. Ces districts sont indiqués dans la légende de la carte indicatrice de l'Ontario qui paraît plus loin. Tandis que dans la province de Québec, certains comtés ont été subdivisés à des fins municipales, le contraire s'est produit dans l'Ontario, où un certain nombre de comtés ont été réunis pour la même raison (ex.: les comtés de Durham et Northumberland). Ces différences dans les comtés de "recensement" sont également indiquées dans la légende de la carte d'Ontario.

Zones métropolitaines de recensement

Un certain nombre de tableaux du volume III donnent des chiffres sur les zones métropolitaines de recensement et leurs parties constituantes. Comme indication de l'emplacement des collectivités satellites par rapport à la cité centrale, il existe une série de cartes de référence, pour ces zones métropolitaines de recensement, qui paraît à la suite des cartes provinciales des pages suivantes du présent appendice.

Il est à remarquer que ces cartes ne sont pas tracées suivant une échelle uniforme et qu'il n'est pas toujours possible de discerner les limites précises dans le cas où des parties de municipalités seulement sont comprises dans les zones métropolitaines. A l'aide, cependant, de cartes topographiques détaillées, on peut d'ordinaire déterminer les parties exactes qui sont comprises.

Bien que les villes de Regina et Saskatoon en Saskatchewan soient suffisamment importantes pour être classées avec d'autres villes de zones métropolitaines, ces centres ne possèdent pas de grandes agglomérations de banlieue urbanisées comme il arrive dans le cas des cités appelées zones métropolitaines de recensement.
